RYAN THARP

DIRECTOR, RESEARCH & ANALYTICS

Ryan Tharp joined Mohr Partners in late-2020 as the Director of Research and Analytics. Ryan utilizes his 15 years of experience to help deliver, and maximize, data-driven insights to enable Mohr Partner occupier clients to make optimal decisions in managing their real estate portfolios throughout North America as well as globally. Furthermore, his role includes analyzing and presenting economic, demographic, and real estate marketing conditions for information dissemination, and business development.

Before joining Mohr Partners, Ryan served as the Director of Research at Transwestern Commercial Services and Cushman & Wakefield. There, he helped establish and direct research and geospatial (GIS) services, oversaw research activities including business intelligence, data strategy, and information management, as well as performed economic and commercial real estate (CRE) analysis for clients in multiple industries and product type. Prior to that, Ryan worked for the Dallas Regional Chamber where he led the research team to help support the strategic priorities of economic development, education, and public policy.

Ryan was born and raised in Dallas, Texas, and attended the University of North Texas. While there, Ryan obtained his Bachelor's Degree in Business Administration and Business Economics and a Master's Degree in Applied Economics, both from the University of North Texas. Additionally, Ryan has a Certificate in Leadership from Southern Methodist University.
