Bradley H. Lipton, CCIM, serves as a Director for Mohr Partners, Inc., working with Managing Principal Stephen Hemphill in the Dallas, Texas, office. A seasoned professional with more than 21 years of industry expertise, Brad has experience spanning strategy and landlord and tenant representation, including leasing, relocation, consolidation, acquisition, disposition and BTS.

His career began on the landlord side, where he managed a diverse portfolio encompassing millions of square feet of industrial space. This foundational experience gave him valuable insight into how institutional landlords and small partnerships evaluate and underwrite deals.

Several years ago, Brad transitioned to Mohr Partners, where he assumed the leadership of the industrial vertical within the firm's largest team. In his role, he leverages his extensive knowledge and experience to collaborate with clients. Together with his team, he evaluates clients' portfolios to provide strategic guidance that shifts decision-making from reactive to proactive.

Bradley's approach focuses on extracting costs, enabling informed decisions and driving strategic initiatives such as post-acquisition consolidations, identifying greenfield sites and executing sale-leasebacks. By aligning clients' real estate strategies with long-term business goals, he helps ensure their portfolios support broader organizational success.

Bradley continues to drive value for his clients through dedication, insight and a strategic mindset that simplifies complex real estate challenges. He was recognized as a D CEO Power Broker from 2023 to 2025 and ranked among the Top 10 producers at Mohr Partners in 2021 and 2022.
