James Kang is the Director of Transaction Services for Mohr Partners, Inc. in the Dallas office. In this role, he directs a team of Account Managers and over sees the management of several Global Corporate Service clients. James also directly manages negotiations for portfolio real estate transactions on an ongoing basis for clients with over 20 million square feet of office, industrial and retail space.

James joined Mohr Partners in 2013 and brings over a decade of experience in corporate real estate services. He previously served as the Associate Director of Transaction Services prior to his promotion to director in 2022.

Prior to joining Mohr Partners, James was a Broker Associate for Bradford Commercial Real Estate Services in Grand Prairie, TX, where he was responsible for leasing, sales, and brokerage of commercial property in the Dallas/Fort Worth area. In his five-plus years at Bradford, James was involved in the marketing of approximately 500,000 square feet of retail, flex and warehouse properties. He also performed project leasing and advised landlords for approximately 740,000 square feet of similar space. Additionally, James provided site selection services for industrial and office tenants.

James graduated from the University of Texas at Austin with a Bachelor of Arts in English.
