Jon Jenkins serves as a Senior Associate on Elizabeth Loving's team in Mohr Partners' Dallas office. In that role, he delivers tailored client insights, supports acquisitions and offers strategic real estate solutions for corporate occupiers.

He previously worked as a Business Development Associate before earning a promotion to Senior Associate in April 2026.

Prior to joining Mohr Partners, Jon was a Senior Business Development Executive at Vigilant Technologies, where he implemented an outbound sales motion from the ground up. Prior to that, Jon was instrumental in expanding business at Adela with the company's top enterprise clients, generating over $860K in new business in 2022.

Additionally, Jon has experience working as an Enterprise Sales Representative at Clovers AI and as an SMB Sales Development Representative at RealPage Inc., expanding his cold outreach and relationship-building skills.

With a passion for driving sales through strategic outreach and relationship-building, Jon excels in turning opportunities into long-term business partnerships. His desire for personal development and growth led him to leverage his past sales experience into a career in commercial real estate.

An alumnus of the University of Arkansas, Jon graduated with a degree in Political Science. He was also an active member of the Sigma Nu Fraternity. Jon received his Texas real estate license in April 2024.
